HANNA-BARBERA MAILBOX
P.O. BOX 419, MAMARONECK, NY 10543-0419

Dear Editor:

First, I'd like to say thank you for the new Hanna-Barbera comics. They've been away too long and I'm overjoyed to see their return. The stories and artwork are like they've stepped right out of TV. I'm 34 years old and have read the various versions over the years and find yours quite superior to those of the past. By the way, where the heck is the true blue star ... Huckleberry Hound? Though Ruff and Reddy were the first Hanna-Barbera stars, Huckleberry was their first superstar and the Hanna-Barbera empire was built upon him.

Tony Busan, Baltimore, MD

(Tony, we did get Huck into several All-Star issues while they were being published and have further plans in mind. He is to be seen in Hanna-Barbera Presents #6, the Super Olympics issue and will certainly be part of the Hanna-Barbera Christmas Special in November and December. But we have plans to do even more than that. We appreciate all your comments and observations.)

Dear Editor:

It saddens me to have to read that The Jetsons and All-Stars have been cancelled. I thought George Jetson, for one, was as much a cult fave as Scooby and Fred Flintstone. But I guess not. So much for dreaming about a 35th anniversary salute to The Jetsons next year. With All-Stars gone, what becomes of plans for characters that haven't yet appeared like Peter Potamus, Clue Club, Snooper and Blabber and Mightor? The Hanna-Barbera line is a great alternative to the brainless, plot-deficient violence in many of today's books. If Scooby and The Flintstones are forced off the racks, who is to blame?

Jacob Gilbert, Troy, NY

(Don't give up so easily, Jacob. Who knows if we won't someday see The Jetsons return. As we've been saying for awhile, you're going to see some great favorites on these pages in one way or another. Get a look at the Super Olympics issue which features Peter Potamus and Snooper and Blabber, amongst so many others. And also look for issues of Scooby-Doo starring Dynomutt, William Hanna and Joe Barbera -- in person -- A Pup Named Scooby-Doo and ... hold on to your hat ... the crew from Gilligan's Island! Feel better now?)

Dear H-B News:

I want to say thank you for bringing back my youth. I am now 33 years old and still act like a boy when I see all my favorite H-B toons like Yogi, Flintstones, Jetsons, Atom Ant, etc. I was wondering if you could do comic specials of some of my favorites: Penelope Pitstop and the Ant Hill Mob, the Hillbillie Bears, Fang Face. I want to say you guys are doing a great job and to keep up the good work.

William Ira Kaples III, Mohawk, NY

(William, glad we've found the Fountain of Youth for you. Now if we could only find it for ourselves! Thanks so much for your letter and, yes, we are looking into spreading our wings and featuring many, many of your favorites.)

Dear H-B Comic News:

Is there any way to purchase back issues?
Michael Murphy, Orlando, FL

(Sure, Michael ... if they're in stock. Just write or give a call and we'll check on the issues of your choice. Your local comic book store might also have back issues you need. Don't forget that we do offer subscriptions to make sure you get future issues.)

Dear H-B Comic News:

I loved your 8th issue of Scooby-Doo. The book was very well done and I do hope you're doing more issues involving dinosaurs. I think comic books are great to read, even though I'm 29 years old.

Dave Young, Simcoe, Ontario, Canada

(So nice hearing from the young of all ages. Thanks, Dave, for your comments. We like to say comic book reading is reading ... and reading is what's important.)

Dear H-B Comic News:

I am writing because my family and I are huge fans of Top Cat. I cannot tell you how much I enjoyed H-B All-Stars #4 where he was the main attraction. My family and I feel that Top Cat and his gang are the most enjoyable and funniest of all Hanna-Barbera characters. PLEASE give TC and the gang a chance!

Roland, HC and Ronald Millsaps,
Chattanooga, TN

(Just one more letter raving about Top Cat and this one from three in a family. Thanks, guys. There is already a Top Cat in the works that will soon be issued as part of the Hanna-Barbera Presents series. I think all you Top Catniks will be delighted.)
